Test Redo
The assignment in this homework is to redo the test. I would like everything except for the True/False questions answered neatly in a typed format. You do not need to type up the questions themselves. I will not accept submissions that are not typed.
Spend the time to make sure that the code used for the short answers and the programming assignments work. For the ”Find the Bugs” section, remember it is syntax errors that I am interested in rather than logic errors. You have a full week to go over this. This homework will count as two full homework assignments.
